HAMMER & MOSSER, Publishers
DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 4, 1893.

There will be music by the full star-orchestra band before many days.

SECRETARY KIRKWOOD is visiting his old home in Iowa City, where he was given an enthusiastic reception last evening.

The New York legislature did not adjourn over on yesterday, as was anticipated, but will hold a joint session to-day to ballot for senators.

Affairs in Ireland are assuming a more serious shape, and the English government is reported as about to take decisive measures with regard to the outbreak that is threatening in all parts of that unhappy country.

The Commercial Manufacturing Co. of New York, makes 40,000 pounds of oleomargarine a day. This means 40,000 pounds less demand for pure dairy butter. Oleomargarine will become a political issue before long, and like the Chinaman, will have to go.

The public debt statement for the month of May shows that the interest bearing debt of the United States is $1,639,567,750, and that the total debt is $2,071,564,354. The total debt less cash in the Treasury is $1,852,021,971. The total decrease for the month of May was $11,550,721, and the total decrease for the eleven months ending May 20, was $99,250,323.

In Germany the introduction and management of the telephone has been appropriated by the government. Italy has decided to follow the examples of Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland, and leave its introduction to private corporations. Of the companies competing for the privilege, the Bell telephone company, which has its main office in the city of Berlin, under the direction of its agent Armin Tenner, has been successful, and has procured from the cities of Rome, Naples, Florence, Milan, Turin, Venice, and Geneva concessions to establish telephone offices. The same company expects soon to receive permission to introduce its system into Russia.

In Belgium the contest for the possession of the schools between the liberals and the clericals is raging as violently as ever. The latter are determined to alone control the schools, and they bitterly oppose the new school law, which creates state schools, secures to the state their sole supervision and management, and confines the clergy to the teaching of religion only. Parents who send their children to the state schools are persecuted by the clericals with all the petty religious tyranny known to their church. They use all possible means to belittle the state school system and to bring it into disrepute. One of the clerical leaders, a Mr. Malon, published a short time ago an article on school statistics, in which he attempted to prove by figures that more children visited the clerical than the state schools. Since it has been proven that his statements are nothing but fabrications and falsehoods, the phrase "he is like Malon's school statistics" has become of general use with the people. This conduct on the part of the clericals is much regretted by the better classes of the Belgians because it produces strife among the people.

The demand for American wines is no great thing, but a leading merchant in the trade says, "If it increases much more American wines will soon be a staple article, like sugar, tea and coffee." More and more money is being invested every day in the wine business, and according to Arpad Haranthy, the Hungarian producer of California wines, over $30,000,000 is invested on the Pacific coast alone. Last year California produced 10,000,000 gallons of wine, of which 700,000 gallons were sweet wine. Of brandy 450,000 gallons were manufactured; also raisins to the value of $100,000. The sale of grapes for table use yielded $150,000. The total yield from the culture of the grape amounted to $3,500,000. Over 10,000 acres were planted in grapevines also, and it is said this year 20,000 acres will be added.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18, 1892. My children were all seriously troubled with whooping cough. We tried them with many prescribed medicines, with Houghton's Eucalypti, etc., with but little or no relief. I was then told of a certain medicine which immediately restored them to good health. I truly believe it is the best medicine in the world for whooping cough.

American Sea of Letters.

(London Daily Times.)

American literature has now become so far English that it has supplied us with more household words than the literature of any other country, except France. Mr. Lowell's own Biglow papers have lent us some—notably the skeptical criticism of John P. Robinson on the culture of Palestine, and the warning as to the necessity of early rising when one is attempting to circumvent the absolute. From a writer much less frivolous than he is commonly thought to be, Mark Twain, we have derived not only by-words, but opportunities for that inextinguishable laughter which seems to refresh and renew the whole system. If Mark Twain had written nothing but the account of his purchases of the celebrated Mexican plug, and his account of how he once increased the circulation of an agricultural paper, he would have made his mark among the humorists who have used the English language. Bret Harte has supplied us with the immortal economical reflections of Bill Nye and has formulated the doubt which we all feel in presence of the Mongolian race, the doubt whether the Aryan man is not played out, has not had his innings, and is on the point of following the Toltecs into the grave of vanished peoples. But these are only the first names that occur. Our fiction owes its most refined and elaborate pages to Mr. James and Mr. Howells, our anthropology is under a heavy debt to Mr. Bancroft and Mr. Morgan, our criticism is sharpened by contact with that of half a dozen brilliant writers, and perhaps it is only in poetry that we still venture to think, if we may use an appropriate expression, we have the "inner tracks." The American Caucasians are certainly not played out, and we may perhaps expect from them the poet who is to succeed our foremost living masters.

THE DECISIVE DAY.

Questions in Geography and Grammar put to Ward Pupils this Afternoon.

The high school building since 9 o'clock this forenoon has been the center of attraction for ward pupils seeking promotion to the first year class of that institution. Following are the questions in geography and grammar submitted by the superintendent:

1. What is meant by the longitude of a place?
2. What is meant by half civilized? Give examples of half-civilized nations.
3. What divisions and islands of North America are crossed by the Arctic Circle?
4. Round islands.
5. Describe the Ohio river.
6. Give the largest three cities of N. Y.
7. Name three of the most important islands of the West Indies.
8. What islands can you name that are generally called the East Indies.
9. Name states on west coast of S. A.
10. Round Brazil and give capital.
11. Name states on east bank of Miss. river.
12. Give capital of Michigan.
13. Name the counties of Southern Europe.
14. Name five important cities of British Isles.
15. Name two rivers that empty into the Mediterranean Sea.
16. Give capital of Spain—of France.
17. Where are the following mountains: Alps, Pyrenees, Caucasus.
18. Describe the Danube river—the Volga.
19. Locate the following: Canton, Madras.
20. Name countries of Africa that touch the Mediterranean Sea.

- GRAMMAR.
1. Write a sentence containing a proper noun and an abstract noun.
2. Come here, my boy, and bring me the inkstand and some paper. Give the kind, person and number of each noun in this sentence.
3. Give the plural of fr. stuff, money, pupil, hero, man-servant. Give the gender of abbot, how, man, cousin.
4. Decline John and thou.
5. Give the adjective of one syllable compounded.
6. Write a sentence containing an adverb, a conjunction, a preposition and an interjection.
7. Write sentences giving the different uses of that.
8. What is a verb? What is a mode?
9. Give the principal parts of burst, do, eat, go and sit.
10. Give a synopsis of the verb as it is in the descriptive mood, first person singular.
11. Define syntax.
12. Define subject and predicate.
13. Write a sentence containing a compound objective element.
14. Write a complex sentence.
15. "The foot and the hand shall lie down together, and a little child shall lead them." Analyze.
16. Personification and shall lead in the previous sentence.
17. "The years are heavy with weary sounds, and their discordant life is sweet music drawn." Personification and shall lead in the previous sentence.
18. Correct and give reasons: The bell has rang. The distance of the stars have been measured.
19. Correct: The teacher told every scholar to bring their books. Write a sentence containing it in the possessive case.
20. Write a short letter to Mr. Wilkinson telling what school you have attended the past year, what studies you have pursued and what studies you would like the coming year.

Cau the New York Legislature Take a Long Recess.

New York Herald.

A number of legal gentlemen have taken the trouble to examine the law on the subject of taking "recesses." These lawyers have given it as their opinion that the legislature can, while engaged in electing United States senators, take a recess only from day to day. They must, according to this view of the law, ballot on every day in the week except Sunday, and no motion for a recess except from day to day can be entertained. There appears to be no question, however, about the power of both branches to adjourn sine die.

A GOOD ENDORSEMENT.

The well known missionary, Rev. G. Horsfield, writes: "I have been greatly afflicted with rheumatism, my doctors said I should never get over it, but hearing your Spring Balm so highly spoken of, I bought a bottle and took nearly three bottles of it; it has thoroughly cured me. I should like to take the quality. Prices: $1.50 cents, and trial bottles to cents."

Parasols, Bonnets, Corsets, Gloves and Mitts in splendid variety, and large quantities to select from. We no doubt show in these, our main specialties, the most complete stock, and at prices not duplicated in the city. Examine and price our goods. CHEAP STORES. 4-d&w Big 18 Merchant st.

Latest news from Marion, O.: Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil triumphs! Mrs. Beigfield used it for several days and pain in side, relieved in a few minutes. Geo. Muttcher, an old citizen, says it beats everything he has tried for rheumatism. He has been a great sufferer from rheumatism and has tried scores of remedies but all to no purpose, one bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eucalypti Oil has cured him entirely. J. P. Follett has used it for burns and says it's the best remedy. For sale by Dr. A. J. Storer.

THE GREAT STOCK SALES.

SECOND DAY.

The sale of fine short horn cows and bulls at the J. H. Pickett farm near Harrisontown, was concluded on Friday afternoon.

The animals sold were from the herds of J. N. Hoyt of Harrisontown, A. C. Ford, of Illinois, and J. G. Strawn of Orleans. The opolis, and were not so high as those of the previous day, but were generally satisfactory to the owners. The sales were as follows:

A Dangerous Doctrine.

Hartford Courant.

We admit their valor, but we insist that we were right and they were wrong. They were the victims of false doctrines of states rights, and it is most essential for the future of the nation that the doctrines should never be revived. It is eminently proper that they should honor the memory of their brave sons, but it is in every way to be regretted that the beautiful custom is made the occasion for annually instilling into the minds of the young the idea that the cause of disloyalty for which these men miserably perished, is a just and righteous one. They are sowing the seed which may break out at some future time in another rebellion, the suppression of which will not be followed by the speedy return of rebels to power, but by such punishment as will annihilate forever the accursed and traitorous heresy. It is a pity that the few southern men of broad intelligence who acknowledge the truth and justice of the union cause, should not be willing to use their influence to counteract the dangerous tendencies of glorifying the cause of rebellion.

The Railroad Gazette publishes a summary of railroad accidents in this country, from which it appears there were 83 in April by which 22 persons were killed and 66 injured. In 38 of the accidents, or over 60 per cent. of the whole, nobody was hurt. As to the causes contributing to carelessness, 10 per cent. is attributed to carelessness at switches and about the same proportion to the weather. Of the remaining disasters, 16 were collisions, 13 being rear collisions, of which even double tracks have not proved a sure preventative. For the year ending with April there were 1,364 accidents, killing 385 and injuring 1,673 persons. The deaths were double those in the year ending April, 1890; the accidents 50 per cent. greater.

St. Louis, June 3.—Jay Gould and party arrived here this morning by the Washburn road, and a conference is now being held with H. M. Hoxie, General Manager of the Texas and Pacific railroad; R. S. Hayes, of the International and Great Northern road, who arrived here yesterday from Texas; and the general manager of the Missouri Pacific and Iron Mountain, at which it is expected a final decision will be reached regarding the consolidation of Mr. Gould's entire southwestern interests.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Gen. Sheridan announces the resignation of Lieut. Col. Grant in a general order, in which he says the resignation of Lieut. Col. Frederick D. Grant, aid-de-camp, of his position as aid upon the staff of the Lieutenant-General, to date June 1, 1893, is hereby accepted. In parting with Lieut. Col. Grant, after service upon his staff more than eight years, the Lieutenant-General thanks him for the good soldierly qualities shown by him during the same period, and most earnestly wishes him every success in the future.

TELEGRAPHIC.

VIRGINIA.

Nominations by the Re-adjusters.

THE ALBANY STRIFE.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 3.—The first ballot for a successor to Conkling resulted as follows:
Jacobs (Democrat), 50; Conkling, 34; Wheeler, 18; Cornell, 20; Rogers, 14; Bradley, 1; Folger, 1; Crowley, 1; Fenton, 2; Lapham, 6; Woodin, 1; Henry Ward Beecher, 1; Datcher, 1.
Madden voted for Woodin, and Gorham for Henry Ward Beecher. Beach is paired with Hoffman, of Chemung; Lines paired with Pinney, Cropper with Butler.

There was no choice, and the convention proceeded to vote for a successor to Platt, with the following result: Kernan (Democrat), 50; Platt, 30; Depew, 30; Lapham, 2; Cornell, 13; Ward, 2; Vancott, 1; Crowley, 3; Datcher, 4; Miller, 8; Folger, 3; Tremaine, 3; Wheeler, 1.

In the joint convention Spinoia offered a resolution that this convention adjourn until noon Saturday, (to-morrow.) Cullinan moved to table the resolution. Lost, and Spinoia's resolution was carried by a vote of 89 in the affirmative, the Democrats and the administrationists voting together.

New York, June 3.—Ex-Senators Conkling and Platt arrived here this morning. They left the hotel at an hour, but not in company.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—Attorney-General MacVeach has been vigorous and untiring in hunting down the Star Route ring, and has more evidence than the public is aware of. He has searched all the records of the departments connected with the Star Route contracts, and confidential special agents have been sent secretly to gather testimony on the line or the expedited routes. Nothing has been left undone that would unearth evidence of fraud. At the Star Route ring talked boldly, under the supposition that, so long as no member turned state's evidence, they were safe. Hoaxers were made here in Washington that the investigation would fail. It is very different now. The men who shared in the ring are anxious and uneasy, and it is predicted that some of them will leave the country. Attorney General MacVeach and Postmaster General James are determined to prosecute indictments against numerous parties. The postmaster-general has copies of Dorsey's correspondence with his agents who procured the petitions for the star routes and some original letters, and documents throwing the light on the methods employed in Arkansas and the southwest have been obtained. The depositions of the men who helped to prepare the way for the expedited routes have been procured also.

The Evening Star to-day gives a list of the men who will be presented to the grand jury for indictment. Among the list is S. B. Elkins, formerly a delegate in the house of representatives from New Mexico, and a son-in-law of United States Senator Elkins, was intimate with Dorsey when the latter was in the senate a year or two ago, and gave out that he had made a fortune in mining speculations, and he established himself in grand style in New York. He was a partner of R. C. Kerns, of St. Louis, in the star route contracts. Elkins by his influence here got the star contracts and had them expedited, while Kerns looked after the operating of the line.

Ex-Congressman McKibben is another man mentioned for indictment; also J. B. Price, of Missouri.

Ex-Auditor McGrew and his late deputy, Lilley, will also be presented to the grand jury. McGrew claims that his duty as assistant auditor was only to carry out the directions of the second assistant Postmaster General, Brady, that therefore, he cannot be held responsible for any wrong; but the sixth auditor is invested with unusual discretionary powers, to be used for the protection of the government, and it is alleged that he did not protect the government, and it is shown by favors granted to the star route contractors properly imposed upon them, and which ought to have been collected. Ex-assistant Postmaster General Brady is also on the list announced to be presented, as is also ex-Senator Dorsey.

French, Brady's chief clerk, is also mentioned as one of those who may be prosecuted. The trials, when they commence, will necessitate the summoning of a very large number of witnesses from distant points, especially from the west and southwest.

New York, June 3.—The Post's Richmond special says the readjusters are in rather sour temper this morning. However, the movement in the interest of Riddleberger last night was badly managed and had an opposite effect. The hasty and disingenuous speech of Riddleberger hurt his cause and may defeat him. Wise withdrew Mahone to-day, and in a ballot that followed Riddleberger received but a very few votes. The third ballot was as follows: Cameron 291, Massey 257, Grover 104, Wise 88. Riddleberger thanked those who had supported him before this ballot, and said it was understood he was not a candidate and he asked nothing of his friends.

A resolution was adopted, amid great excitement, to drop the lowest candidate at each ballot, and that he shall not be re-nominated until one ballot has intervened. Grover's friends have obtained leave to withdraw for consultation, and a recess was taken.

The fourth ballot showed a steady gain for Massey. There were many changes and much confusion, and Cameron began to forge ahead amid prolonged cheers as the Wise men turned over to Cameron. The friends of Massey and Grover asked leave to retire, but were ignored, until Mahone appeared, and after the thundering applause, which always greeted his entrance, had subsided, he pleaded that fair play be given the friends of Wise and Grover, and that they be allowed to retire. They were permitted, and when they returned the balloting continued to show that Cameron was sure to win.

Massey here made his appearance and was greeted with great applause. He said he had indulged in hopes, but every thing must give way to harmony, and he urged his friends who had so nobly aided by him to make Col. Cameron's nomination unanimous.

There were only two or three dissenting votes to this proposal. Louis E. Hawes was nominated for lieutenant governor, although Riddleberger had opposed him and favored Wm. Wilner. Captain Frank P. Blair was nominated attorney-general. The convention adjourned to 9 p. m., when Col. Cameron, nominated for governor, made a speech, declaring he was a Democrat. The readjusters were determined to find what their dear old mother owed and pay it. He was followed by Lewis, a Republican. Bourbonism, he said, must take a back seat. Mahone not being present to speak, the convention adjourned without delay.

PILES! PILES! PILES!

A Sure Cure Found at Last. No One Need Suffer.

A sure cure for the Blind, Bleeding, Itching and Ulcerated Piles has been discovered by Dr. Williams (an Irishman), called Doctor Williams' Indian Ointment. A single box has cured the worst chronic cases of 25 and thirty years' standing. No one need suffer from the itching, burning, and bleeding of the piles, after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, Instruments and Electrodes do more harm than good. Williams' Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as a poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared only for Piles, itching of the private parts, and nothing else.

Read what the Hon. J. M. Coffinberry, of Cleveland, says about Dr. Williams' Indian Ointment: "I have used several of your cures, and it affords me pleasure to say that I have never found anything which gave such immediate and permanent relief as Dr. Williams' Pile Ointment."

HE SUFFERED FOR 35 YEARS.
Gutted, Conn., May 15, 1893.
For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, dyspepsia, have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family physician finally told me I could not be cured. THE FIRST DORSEY'S COURE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE helped me, and to-day I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

Paducah, Ky., May 10, 1893.
During a confinement of eleven months in Liberty Prison, I was attacked with dyspepsia. It was the worst I ever had. For two years I have suffered with it. I tried doctors a great many times without relief. This spring I became so debilitated as to be unable to walk. After taking two doses of DORSEY'S DYSPEPSIA CURE I ate everything on the table, felt in distress afterward and have a splendid appetite.

I would like to add one more testimonial to your list. I have been a victim of dyspepsia for the past five years; have tried a great many medicines, and find relief only in DORSEY'S DYSPEPSIA CURE.
